1887 AND 1878 - PIGURES RE-VERSED.

The result of the State elections in The result of the State elections in 1873 may be set down as a crushing defeat of the Republican or Administration party, and as an ever memorable victory of the Democracy. There is much in it that reminds us of the history of the past. It seems as if 1837 was come again, and by an extraordinary coincidence the same figures denote it, with the exception that the fourth has become the third in the row. In 1837 the downfall of the Democracy, who had been in possession of power for eight years, was simultaneously with a financial panie that overspread the country, depressing business spread the country, depressing busines and throwing hundreds and thousand and throwing hundreds and thousands of people out of employment. For if the Administration was held responsible, States which had been the most reliable for General Jackson, and for his then not inaugurated successor, Martin Van Buren, were carried by the Whiga by large majorities. New York, which had given Van Buren in the preceding fall 28,000 majority, elected one hundred Whigs to the House of Assembly to 28 personerats. The reaction was compelete. Democrats. The reaction was complete. But the Democrats endeavored to console themselves by the reflection that the tote was light, and that thousands of Democrats stayed at house from dissatisfaction, who, when a President or Govlemocrats stayed at noise from diseausfaction, who, when a President or Governor was chosen, would again come out and vote the ticket. The result proved the vanity of the delusion. It was the "off year." just after the Presidential contest. Three years passed away, and the Presidential contest took place. The opposition to the Democratic Administration of Martin Van Buren consisted of several organizations, North and South, but by far the most important of them was known as Whigs. Under that name verything railled in 1840 and, sithough the vote was half a million larger than ever before known, Mr. Van Buren was voted out by an unprecedented mejority, receiving but 60 electoral votes out of 294 and carrying but seven States out of the twenty-six which then composed the Union. Then Democracy, for the first time, preceived that the results of 1837 were not momentary, but they expressed the full and deep settled convictions of the people.

In 1873, thirty-six years thereafter.

1837 were not momentary, but they expressed the full and deep settled convictions of the people.

In 1873, thirty-six years thereafter, without the change of a figure, we find a similiar state of things. A National Administration, elected a year before by an enormous teajority, is everywhere condemned. With this change comes a financial panic almost like that of 1837. Strike out the name of Grant and insert Martin Van Buren, and it is history rejeating itself. By the defeated party the same ideas are advanced, that the reverses are but temporary. What a delinion they are laboring under the course of events will tell. The people are going to combine in 1876, just as they did in 1840, to vote out the Administration. Now, as then, they will seize hold of the organization which is the most conspicuous, and could do the most in effecting the great purposes of the opposition. It was then the Whig party. Now it is the Democratic party. Hundreds of thousands who had never been Whigs, who had ranked themselves as State's Rights Democrats, supported the Whig nominee in the Presidential election of 1840. There is a supreme absurbity in the idea that people are willing to vote who are and have been Democrats for years, but will not do so if they call themselves Democrats. There is no such prejudice existing against names. People look to things rather than to names. They are down upon the existing Administration. things rather than to names. They are down upon the existing Administration, and will favor that which gives them the opportunity of rectifying it. It is folly to say they will submit to everything rather than be Democrats. That is moral cowardice of the worst character. There is nothing in the word Democrat of which anybody is to be afraid.

PURBLO AND SALT LAKE. - The Pueblo Calorade Chieftain of December 25 has the following concerning the Pueblo and Salt Lake Railway Company:

M. A. Shaffenburg, W. A. Orman, M. D. Thatcher, James N. Carlile, George M. Chilcott, O. H. P. Baxter, Peter K. M. Chilcott, O. H. P. Baxter, Peter K. Dotson and Jefferson Reynolds have incorporated a company to be known as the Pueblo and Salt Lake Railway Company. Its eastern termini is to be Granada, Colorado, and its western termini Salt Lake City, Utah. We shall, hereafter, have samething to say concerning the practicability of the proposed route; and in the meantims we may congratulate ourselves that the parties interested in the enterprise are known to be stirring and enerprise are known to be stirring and ener-

The incorporators also include, in the articles of incorporation, a telegraph line of the same termini as that of the railroad. The capital stock of the com-pany is $3,000,000, with 30,000 shares, at $100 each, and the route on the eastern slope of the mountains is along the Arkansas Valley, via Tennessee Pass. Of the practicability of the route there can be no doubt, as it has been selected with greatern and the selected w selected with great care, and the parties who have interested themselves in this great enterprise are a sufficient guarantee that work on the route will be commenced at the esslicst possible moment.

We are advised that a meeting of the trustees will be held for the purpose of the public.

The fact that Moses Anker, Esq., has been selected as one of the trustees, gives abundant assurance that the work will not pine, for, with his experience, energy and acquaintance with English and European capitalists, there can be no doubt as to his ability to bring about such material aid as will insure the such no doubt as to his ability to bring about such material aid as will insure the success of the projectors of this new enterprise. We shall watch with interest the progress of svents, and hope at no distant day to be bound with fron bands with our sister territory, Utah, polygamy to the contrary, notwithstanding.

A MAS named Herring living near Toronto, recently confessed having committed a murder six years ago in Wisconsin. He said the reason he confessed was that he had a very bad tempered wife, and that whenever they disagreed she would aggravate him by taunting him with the murder. He submitted for six years, but at length determined to seek the tender mercies of the law, rather than bear the constant irritation of his wife's tongue.
